Dear Parent/Carer

Sexual Exploitation Awareness Day - 01 February 2018

Dear Parent/Carer

Within school, we work very closely with external agencies and have taken up an offer of running a 30-minute play and 90-minute workshop, delivered by York St John University, entitled 'It's Not OK'. The play is part of the year-long 'It's Not OK' sexual abuse campaign running in Sheffield with the NSPCC.

The play and workshop will be delivered in Hinde House, Secondary Phase, on the 1st February.

About the play:

'It's Not OK' is an interactive theatre performance designed to explore issues associated with staying safe online, child exploitation and abuse. Co-created by the NSPCC and York St John University, the play and workshop explore the online and offline worlds of four characters; looking at the choices they make and consequences of them. The piece is designed to be fully participatory, allowing young people to input into online decisions that the characters make and then explore the impact of these decisions. The play raises young people's awareness of issues around sexual abuse and sexual exploitation and is being delivered to all Year 7 students across Sheffield.

We will ensure that there are staff present to deal with any questions students may have and ensure that they feel emotionally safe and protected throughout the event.

If you have any questions about this event, please contact us on the above telephone number.

Yours sincerely
